CORRIE CHAPMAN SHIPWRECKED.—The Virginia Enterprise, of the 1st inst., says:

Everybody in this city, and we presume nearly everybody on this coast and up and down the Mississippi river for miles and miles, has heard of the Chapmans and the Chapman theatrical troupe. Possibly nearly all have heard too that old lady Chapman has borne no less than twenty-two (22) children, male and female, but we believe nobody ever heard of one of the family dying. Why in Helena, Montana, only last year, the old lady played "Richard Three;" and for her benefit, as she informed us in a letter, contemplated tackling Mazeppa. But what we are coming at is this: We heard yesterday that a letter had been received in this city giving an account of the drowning of Miss Carrie Chapman while going down the Missouri river in a Mackinaw boat. We procured the letter, feeling pretty sure that the "relentless archer" had at last pinned a Chapman, but found out the contrary, as the following extract from the letter, dated Council Bluffs, January 18, 1867, will show: "I bought a passage down the Missouri river on a Mackinaw boat, and had not been out two days when, while going like h—l through a pass in the mountains, we struck a large rock in the middle of the stream and smashed our boat all to pieces—not even a whole board was left, nor a thing saved except Miss Carrie Chapman's big trunk, which was picked up five miles below. She and her babe landed on a rock some fifty yards below. Two persons were drowned and one chilled to death, as it was bitter cold." We don't understand by the above that either Carrie or her babe perished. The writer does not say how the party managed to get down the river—perhaps they all went aboard Carrie's big trunk, using the one pair of blankets they saved for a sail.

THE COAL, IRON, AND OIL OF PENNSYLVANIA.—The product of coal in Pennsylvania, in 1866, is estimated in round numbers at 16,000,000 tons, an increase of 2,000,000 tons over the product of 1865, and of nearly 4,000,000 tons over the product of 1860. The ascertained tonnage of the railways and canals connected with the anthracite and semi-anthracite coal fields was nearly 18,000,000; and the remainder of the product consisted of an anthracite consumed near the place of production, which is estimated at from 500,000 to 1,000,000 tons, and of bituminous coal. The value of this product at the markets of its first delivery was at least $80,000,000. The quantity of petroleum produced in 1866 is estimated at nearly 90,000,000 of gallons, valued at $47,210,379. The product of pig iron was 846,268 tons, an increase of nearly 100,000 tons over 1865, valued at $31,620,864. The aggregate value of coal, petroleum, and pig iron was $158,231,243. These resources, which in the present industrial development of the country may almost be considered peculiar to that State, are of immense value. Its coal product is worth as much as the gold product of the Pacific States, and the pig iron and petroleum yields yearly a richer revenue than was ever obtained from the famous silver mines of Mexico and Peru.

THE ANCIENT ROMAN WOMEN.—The ancient Romans, in some respects, were in advance of the present age in their practical physiological knowledge. This was especially the case in the habits of the women. They seemed to be fully aware of the fact that a hardy race must be born of healthful mothers, and consequently any usage or practice likely to affect injuriously the health of woman was viewed by the State with suspicion. The muscles were systematically educated. Frequent bathing was required by law. Large bath houses were established, which were places of common resort. For several centuries of the best ages of Rome it was a criminal offence of a Roman mother to drink intoxicating liquors. At the time of our Saviour on earth, and for a long period after, it was considered infamous for a Roman woman to taste wine. For a guest to offer a glass of wine to one of the household was looked upon as a deep insult, as it implied a want of chastity on her part. History records several cases where they were put to death by their husbands because they smelt of "tomotum." The consequence of this physical training and abstinence from all intoxicating liquor was that the Romans were noted for their endurance and strength.

LIFE INSURANCE.—It has become common with the people now-a-days, says the Virginia Trespass, to insure their life for the benefit of their families, and nothwithstanding newspaper men are generally too poor to afford the luxury of dying, we saw the following letter this morning, which is a model in its way.

Virginia, February 27.

S. T. King, San Francisco: Dear Steve:—I believe you are in the life insurance business—some. Aware of the uncertainties of life, I would like to make a moderate bet in your line: you to pay my wife and boy, in case I should not be able to call in person, when the amount is properly, and by law, collectable. You do something in the way of advertising. So do I. As I have more of that than any other currency, it would suit me exactly to put up something in that shape against my life and your coin. If you like the picture, write, stating terms. I am a fine piece of property for one of your experiments—sweet thirty-six—and have been vaccinated and baptised, and don't believe in ghosts nor the code. Yours, etc., S.

AN ACT-UAL FACT.—The Legislative reporter of the Omaha Republican says: "Reporters apparently get confused, and then out of vexation report a burlesque title to bills out of spite, as the following example shows—An act to revive an act to annul an act to amend an act to nullify an act to rip up an act and to act the devil generally with an act to incorporate Lagrange City. Read the second and third time on leave, and passed, and title agreed to after inserting the word 'act.' The reporter won't be confident that this act was actually enacted, the counter-action of feeling upon hearing the act read, re-acted badly upon the action of our active nerves; but should anything have been left out of this act we assure our readers that it was actually an unintentional act on the part of the acting reporter.

THEY are having an immense flood in the Kaw river, Kansas, and its tributaries. Nearly all the bridges are swept away. The Missouri was rising rapidly at Kansas City at last accounts.—Denver News, 26.

Gov. Bramlette has received $155,000 from the United States towards liquidating the Kentucky war debt.

Salt Lake City, November 5, 1866.

Military Despotism and Reconstruction.

A great many folks are working themselves up to a state of intense excitement over apprehended evils likely to flow from the Military Government bill, recently passed over the President's veto. While the Radical press regard it as the ne plus ultra of legislation, and the only thing just now adapted to the wants of the rebel States, their opponents, naturally enough perhaps, pronounce it an abomination of abominations. The latter see in it the most imminent dangers to free institutions, and indulge in a sort of nightmare, the prominent vision of which is a great overgrown military despot, riding on a pale horse.

Curiously enough, such patriots as preside over the destinies of the Richmond Enquirer, Charleston Mercury, New York News, and papers of that ilk, have suddenly become enamored of the Constitution and Republican institutions. Seemingly their greatest fear (now that they have entirely failed to overturn both the Constitution and the Government by open warfare,) is, that the Republic may receive some detriment at the hands of the men who saved it from annihilation. We are gravely told that we are fast drifting towards a military despotism, and that the Military Government law for the rebellious South is the first giant step thitherward. We remember that in 1848, just after the Mexican War, the great argument of the Democrats against the election of General Taylor was that the choice of a military chieftain as President was exceedingly dangerous, and but presaged the overthrow of Republican government. But the American people were not to be scared out of their propriety by any such bugaboo, and the nation survived the election of a military hero. So now, after coming triumphantly out of the great Civil War; after having had in the field upwards of a million of men under arms at a time; after seeing these quietly and rapidly disbanded and scattered throughout the land to engage in peaceful pursuits;—after seeing and doing and experiencing all this, without being dazzled with the glare of military glory, or sensibly affected by the "pride, pomp and circumstance of glorious war," we strongly suspect the American people will survive the Military Government bill.

The fact is, we have learned, and the world is beginning to learn, that Republican institutions, among an intelligent and loyal people, are not made of mere pie-crust, but are much stronger and more durable than was thought.

So far as the rebel States are concerned, complaints come from them with not a very good grace. It was rather amusing than otherwise, during the war waged by Jeff. Davis to overthrow the Nation, to hear that chieftain prating to his followers about the unconstitutionality of many of the acts of President Lincoln! In the present case both the President and Congress have done all they could to give the late rebels a chance to return to the Union, with full representation. But having discovered that there was no intention or design on the part of any department of the Government to punish their treason, they grew defiant and rejected with contumely every proposition that was made.

If, after the close of the war, the civil governments down South had manifested a single symptom of loyalty, and exerted an effort to protect loyalists and freedmen in the enjoyment of their rights, and had accepted the Constitutional Amendments, there can be no doubt that the Southern States would be fully represented in Congress to-day. Though this might not have suited the temper of the ultra radicals, the great mass of the people and the press of the North would have driven them to it. Magnanimity was in the hearts of the Northern people at the close of the war, notwithstanding the terrible scenes of the four years cruel and unnecessary conflict.

But the rejection of the Constitutional Amendments, the forcing into prominent position and the highest offices of the most notorious and bitter rebels, the Memphis and New Orleans riots, and daily reports of outrages upon loyal men throughout the South, because they are loyal, have culminated, as they only could culminate, in placing the South under military law. If the Military Government bill is unconstitutional, it will be so declared by the Supreme Court. If not, we do not apprehend that Republican government has received its death-stroke. At best, it is only intended as a temporary measure, until the civil governments at the South shall be reconstructed on a fair and proper basis. If Southern men will institute and carry on governments protecting all classes of the people, the minority as well as the majority, reconstruction will be an accomplished fact; but if they will not do it, then Congress says it will do it itself, by the aid of its military. That's the way we read this matter, and we suspect the country is not exactly going to the dogs, or in any very great danger of "an overshadowing military despotism."

FATAL ACCIDENT.—By a private letter we learn that a young man in the employ of Mr. John Skelly, of American Fork, started with a team and wagon on the morning of the 6th instant, for the purpose of bringing a load of wood from the canyon in that vicinity. Several hours having elapsed beyond the time of his expected return, a party of friends went out to look for him. They found his body in the canyon with his head crushed and one of his legs broken in two places. To all appearances he had been dead several hours. The writer expresses the opinion that it was the result of accident in his being thrown from the wagon and crushed by its wheels passing over him.

BY PACIFIC TELEGRAPH.

[SPECIAL TO THE "DAILY UNION VEDETTE."]

Washington, March 7.

General Grant to-day sent to the President the names of Generals Schofield, Sickles, Sheridan, Thomas and McDowell, as the Commanders of the five Military Districts of the rebel States.

Judge Underwood has sent a memorial to Congress, stating that the Military Government Act had been openly defied by the authorities of Alexandria, Va., and asking relief in the premises.

The election in Alexandria, Va., will be set aside and a new election ordered, the Military Commander having power for the purpose under the new law.

Toronto, C. W., March 7.

It is understood that orders have been issued to put 2,000 volunteers in readiness for immediate service on the frontier, the authorities being apprehensive of another Fenian raid.

Cincinnati, March 7.

A committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to examine the claims of a committee now here from Cherokee county, Ala., representing the destitution of the people of that county, report that about five thousand people there are wholly destitute.

Washington, March 7.

In the Senate, Henderson introduced a resolution to amend the Constitution, by providing that no State shall prohibit any of its citizens from voting or holding office on account of color.

Saulsbury raised the point of order that, as the Constitution of the United States had been blotted out of existence, it couldn't be amended. The resolution was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Henderson gave notice that he should, on to-morrow, introduce a bill to provide for the representation of the rebel States in Congress at the earliest possible moment.

Cragin introduced a bill to regulate the selection of grand and petit jurors in Utah Territory. Referred.

Morrill offered a resolution instructing the Committee on Printing to inquire as to what legislation is necessary to perfect arrangements for the publication of the proceedings of Congress. Adopted.

Wilson introduced a bill supplementary to the Act to provide a more efficient government for the rebel States, and to facilitate their restoration. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Anthony moved a suspension of the rule requiring the election of Standing Committees to be by ballot, and offered a resolution appointing the Committees. Agreed to.

In the House, the Speaker presented a communication from John A. Hogan, contesting the seat of William Hill, member from the 1st district of Missouri.

A concurrent resolution was offered, that when the two Houses adjourn on Monday, they adjourn to meet on the 8th of May next. Adopted without a division.

Kelley offered a resolution instructing the Judiciary Committee, when appointed, to report a bill declaring who shall call Conventions for the reorganization of the rebel States, and providing for the registration of voters; and that until the Constitutions of said States shall be approved by Congress voting shall be by ballot. Adopted.

The Speaker stated that he would regard the resolution as instructing him to appoint the Judiciary Committee immediately.

Washington, March 7.

In the Senate, Cragin introduced a joint resolution proposing to amend the Constitution so as to prohibit the re-election to the office of President of any person who has once served as such, whether by election, or by accession from the Vice Presidency. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Sumner introduced a joint resolution declaring certain further guarantees needed in the Constitutions of the rebel States. In addition to universal suffrage, the resolution requires that the existing governments must be vacated and be no part of the new Constitutions; that Constitutional governments must supersede the present illegal governments; that none but loyal persons shall take part in the formation of new governments; that public schools must be established, open to all, and that homesteads must be secured to the freedmen. Johnson objected, and the resolution went over.

The Senate then went into Executive session, and adjourned.

In the House, Ashley of Ohio offered a resolution calling for the appointment of a Committee on Judiciary, to continue the investigation of the charges against the President which he made in the last Congress. He followed in a half hour's speech, charging the President with corruption, usurpation and crime, and intimated that he gained the Executive Chair through complicity in assassination.

At this point, Speaker Colfax called Ashley to order, on the ground that he was going beyond the limits of debate.

Some Democrats at this point inquired if there was not an insane asylum in which Ashley could be placed.

Spalding, of Ohio, denounced the whole impeachment movement as a piece of consummate folly, and said a two months investigation had virtually proved nothing.

Butler favored a vigorous impeachment investigation, maintaining that the House as at present constituted is legally competent to proceed in the matter.

Brooks, Wood and Pruyn, on the Democratic side, continued the debate. Fernando Wood said that when the impeachment report should be made he would submit some facts showing the motives which instigated the movement which would startle the House and the country.

The resolution passed without a division.

The Speaker appointed the old Judiciary Committee, and added another Democrat to it.

New York, March 8.

Presiding Justice Leonard, of the Supreme Court, yesterday decided that the U.S. legal tender notes are in law, money, and as such, liable to taxation.

A Times special says, that at the Senatorial caucus last evening, the whole subject of adjournment, and its relations to impeachment, were fully discussed. A surprisingly unanimous sentiment was developed against the impeachment movement, and especially against any recess or adjournment, which would bring Congress back again, in a short time, for the express purpose of considering the question. The only Senator who spoke unequivocally for impeachment was Chandler. As to adjournment, the very general expression was in favor of remaining in session only long enough to close up Executive business, and then adjourning to meet no sooner than November or December next. No final action was taken. The impeachment furore, which was increased by Wednesday night's action of the House caucus, was last night cooled down by the action of the Senate caucus.

The imbroglio over the assessorship of Internal Revenue in the fourth district of California, where the occupant refused to surrender the office to John Bigler, appointed by the President, has finally been settled by the appointment and confirmation of Maj. Thos. J. Blakeney, formerly aide-de-camp on staff of General Burns, commanding 1st div., 9th army corps.

The Speaker of the House having intimated that the appointment of a Tariff Committee would really usurp the functions of the Committee on Ways and Means, it is probable that the creation of such a committee will be abandoned. The extreme Tariff advocates refuse to consent to any proposition of the kind, unless they can control it.

A World's special says the report that Col. A. M. Wood, of Brooklyn, had been nominated naval officer, is incorrect.

Stockton, March 1.

It has rained incessantly for two days, a part of the time quite heavily, but has considerably abated within the last two hours. The water in the streets is within several inches of being as high as it was a week ago, and is still rising. El Dorado street, from the intersection of Main, is submerged as far south as Mormon slough, and all the ungraded southeastern part is covered from a depth of several inches to several feet. Several parties have been amusing themselves by boat riding on El Dorado street, between Independent block and the corner of Main street. All the sloughs in the northern part of the city are nearly full, and water in the sloughs between the city and the San Joaquin river is much higher than it has been at any time since the flood of 1861-2. The San Joaquin is rising slowly, however, and there is considerable margin left before it will force back the water upon the city.

We learn, from Colonel Allen, Justice of the Peace at Pahranagat, which place he left last Monday, and arrived here to-day, that he encountered no snow on the route until he reached the summit of Stonebarger's pass, through the Smoky Valley Range, where it was snowing heavily. From that point to town he rode through deep snow. The Colonel represents mining matters to be very encouraging in the district, and the anticipation of a lively summer is very general among the residents. The principal work was being done upon the Illinois ledge, although several other mines were being developed.—Reveille, March 2d.

OUR IDAHO LETTER.

Idaho City, March 1st, 1867.

EDITOR VEDETTE:—The winter, with its mantle of "beautiful snow" bids fair to take up its bed and walk away from us very soon. We wish it luck with its getting off; and the most besotted admirer of John Clarey's "hot stuff" will be willing for once to straighten up and drink its health in a tumbler of cold water from any snow bank in the vicinity. Glad spring, with its genial atmosphere, delicious breezes and warm sunshine, will be hailed with delight by all classes. Let old winter get himself started as soon as possible; let him quietly settle down into earth and take up his bubbling march for the Columbia River and the "cottage by the sea," gradually, but immediately, is the prayer at present of ye honest miner.

There has been little or no cold weather this season, and mining has been carried on to some extent all winter. Communication is uninterrupted, and we continue to receive our Atlantic news through the VEDETTE in about six days with great regularity. Even the roads and river to Oregon—sweet land of red apples and rosy cheeked girls—are in the best condition, and we read our love-letters and the Oregon papers of ten days ago, at the breakfast table, without any particular interest in the latter, however, but wonder what excuse our Portland friends have now, that they neither send us any passengers or goods, although the transit is open, and comfortable.

Beachy's line to Hunter's station connects us by six days time with Nevada and California, which he makes almost with the regularity of a clock. We, of these nobs, have an abiding faith in his eventually conquering all difficulties, and making the trips without any breaks the year round; the same as Wells, Fargo & Co. do between here and Salt Lake City. Those fellows keep up a good gait, that is decidedly exhilarating to one of a fast turn of mind.

The last news from the Chico line was to the effect, that all hands had been caught in some drunken, thieving scrape, at Camp Smith, and put in the guard house, where they may as well be kept for all the good their work will ever do this country. Everybody said Mullan & Co. were "no account" when they started the line, and time has proved those assertions true.

The different camps between here and the Dalles, and throughout the Territory, have put down dust as a currency, and are trying, with commendable energy, to substitute coin as a circulating medium. For this needed reform in Idaho City, we are indebted partly to the very enterprising firms of Lauer & Swinn, J. V. Houten, and Wulff & Moore. A few scrub dealers still cling to the old system, but they stick on the prices to get even, and thus receive, as they deserve, the denunciations of honest men, and should be severely let alone, as they are by all who stop a moment to consult their own interests, or study the rules of justice. We hope exhibitions of arrant selfishness, such as have come from the opponents of the dust reduction, will not hereafter be the rule. If it is the duty of our miners to do any one thing right, besides dig, that duty is to turn their commodity into coin before trying to use it. They owe this to society, ordinary usages, and good government among civilized nations; and when they do this, they benefit themselves, because, if traders and mechanics are forced to receive a currency they do not know the value of, they are bound to stick on the per cents till the ground of profit is covered beyond a doubt. The Territorial law of Idaho now requires all public dues to be paid in coin, or its equivalent. This is right; and when the Government Assay Office is established in Boise City, it will no longer be necessary to exert any arbitrary means to put the value of dust where it ought to be.

The nomination of one Jno. M. Murphy for Governor of Idaho, made the Democracy here very indignant. The Republicans merely laughed and chuckled over it. They had a good thing as long as it lasted. Perhaps Mr. Holbrook thinks now he can be elected to another office in this Territory. If he does, let him come back and try it on! I can fully guarantee him not to be elected a dog-pelter if he should aspire so high. His Democratic friends have lost all the confidence they ever had in him, and no doubt he knows, as well as his constituents, that he could not have perpetrated a more ridiculous joke upon his supporters in Idaho than the recommending of Murphy for Governor! Phew!

It is hoped the day of rule of safe-thieves and whisky-bloats is tolerably well played out in Idaho, and that hereafter men will have some voice in the matter.

From the Fenian ranks, which is rather a strong political element in Idaho, comes the rumor that James O'Meara, editor of the World, will be the next Democratic candidate for Delegate to Congress.

Continue to enliven our evenings, Mr. VEDETTE, with your daily presence; you are a sine pari in our midst for news, and gossip with our Mormon neighbors and the Arrapahoe savages, and without you we should be in despair. I see you have plenty of balls and parties as well as ourselves. By the way, we have had some very pleasant, and recherche soirees and balls at the hall owned by our worthy Postmaster Pinney, at which are generally found all the elite of our best society. On the 23d ult., Mr. Barber, of the City Hotel, gave a grand ball in the fine, large hall belonging to his house, which was attended by all his friends, and was as select as usual. Old Heidsieck and Madam Cliquot, herself, were both on hand at the supper, which was excellent.

I shall have plenty to tell you in my next; in the meantime please continue to give Old Brigham "Hail-Columbia happy land," and recollect if dogs run under your house and die, it will be nobody's fault but your own—you should bank up round. Society in Utah must be regulated by some means or other; it seems a little uncertain, though, how it is to be done.

The District Court is in session, Hon. T. R. McBride, presiding. Dunn was tried the second time last week for the killing of McKay; verdict, guilty of murder in the second degree; sentence 20 years; also Kelly, tried for the killing of Roach; verdict, not guilty. We seldom hurt anybody or oppress the afflicted with any unnecessary cruelty in these diggings.

Cock-fighting is a popular saloon amusement with the boys this winter, and quite large sums of money change hands upon the results of this innocent pastime. Coasting, which was so popular in winters past, has not been inaugurated yet this season.

Miss Craig, one of the young belles of the place, and a protege of Dr. Belknap's, is to be married at the Methodist Church next Sunday morning. The occasion will be one of eclat.

It is whispered about that a famous lawyer of Idaho City, a "man of infinite jest," a gentlemanly rake too, is about to lead another of our blushing maidens to the altar.

COURTENEY.

INDIAN PAYMENT.—An escort, accompanying the paymaster, left the city yesterday morning, for the purpose of making a payment to the Delaware Indians. Several thousand dollars will be paid them, which had much better be given to the widows and orphans of the brave soldiers who fell defending the flag of their country.—Leavenworth Commercial, 19th ultimo.

...Odyssey in Utah.

The following communication was handed us some time since for publication, but the press of other matter has prevented its earlier appearance in our columns:

Since the days when the army under Johnson, was stationed at Camp Floyd, who had with them a Traveling Dispensation to convene and hold meetings of Masons, the efforts to form a regular Lodge, though attended with much zeal, had never proved successful.

An application was made by many officers and soldiers at Camp Douglas for a dispensation to form a Lodge to several jurisdictions. The request had been universally denied to that extent, when Masons were more plenty in the city, that the refusal which had greeted former applicants discouraged a renewal by many who were residents of this city.

In November, 1865, Mr. W. G. Higley, who had emigrated from Iowa and concluded to settle here, on finding so much finished material, disregarded all former discouragements, devoted his time and attention in calling on such of the Masons as he became acquainted with, until he succeeded in getting sufficient signers to call for a meeting. Accordingly, on the 9th of November, ten or twelve claiming to be Masons assembled at the Odd Fellows' Hall, among whom were Wm. L. Halsey, Wm. G. Higley, James M. Ellis, E. Emanuel, F. H. Lewis, J. H. Lewis, Frank Shoemaker, and many others. After discussing some preliminary points, an organization was effected, Wm. L. Halsey being chosen President, and J. M. Thurmond, Esq., Secretary.

The meeting was unanimous for starting a Masonic Lodge. A Committee on Correspondence was appointed, which consisted of J. M. Ellis, F. H. Lewis and Wm. L. Halsey.

A permanent organization was then effected, styled a Masonic school of instruction, with the following officers: W. L. Halsey, President; J. M. Ellis, First Assistant; Wm. G. Higley, Second Assistant; J. M. Thurmond, Secretary; F. H. Lewis, Treasurer. Meetings were held regularly once a week and invitations published to Masons in good standing favoring the formation of a Lodge to co-operate. In about three weeks from the first meeting the Committee on Correspondence reported a favorable response from the jurisdiction of Nevada. The members were then requested to get their demits. Arrangements were made for the renting and fitting up of a suitable room. All of which having been amicably and harmoniously accomplished by the unanimous aid of the Masons at a cost of about $800. Jewels, records, furniture and various other Masonic implements were procured. It was then agreed to name the new lodge, Mount Moriah Lodge.

A petition was regularly drawn up, asking the M. W. Joseph De Bell, then Grand Master of Masons of Nevada, to grant a dispensation to form a lodge of Masons at Salt Lake City. The petition was signed by 14 Master Masons in good standing, and their prayer indorsed by the lodge at Austin. A general jubilee and holiday prevailed on the reception of the document, which it took about four months to procure. A large and respectable procession of Masons was formed, numbering about 70; after marching through the principal streets, they proceeded to Independence Hall, when, amidst the throng that crowded that spacious room, the ceremony of forming the new lodge was performed by a skillful brother. A banquet for Masons at their hall in the evening closed the eventful exercises of the day that planted Masonry under legal authority in Utah. The Lodge was formed on the 4th of February, 1866.

Ever since, the Lodge has worked in harmony, and spread its knowledge and usefulness.

At the late annual communication of the Grand Lodge, Mount Moriah petitioned for a charter, and elected the following officers: J. M. Ellis, W. M.; W. G. Higley, Sr. W.; W. L. Halsey, Jr. W.; W. T. Auerbach, Sec., and Chas. Popper, Treasurer.

The Grand Lodge, in its wisdom, saw fit to deny the request, and yet asked Mount Moriah to work under dispensation for another year.

Masons adhering to perseverance, this act on the part of the Grand Lodge did not slacken their zeal, and Mount Moriah to-day prospers, and hopes the delay in obtaining the charter will only better qualify them for the many duties and uses of a Lodge.

With the common view of all Masons, to obtain Masonic power, a number of brethren have procured a dispensation from the Grand Lodge of Montana, and formed another Lodge, thus adding to the laurels of Masonry another star; both lodges meeting in the same hall.

Mount Moriah, U.T., may rightly attribute its origin to the efforts of W. G. Higley, who is honored to-day with the position of Sr. W.; the second, yet most important office, in a Lodge.

The Lodge is at present composed of some of the best citizens of this place. Their communications are but once in each lunar month, which is on the second Tuesday of each month. The officers are—James M. Ellis, Worshipful Master; William G. Higley, Sr. Warden; Louis Cohn, Jr. Warden; T. H. Auerbach, Secretary; Charles Popper, Treasurer; Jas. F. Nounnan, Sr. Deacon; H. ANKER'S

ONE-PRICE CLOTHING STORE,

F Street,

SIGN OF THE GILT ANCHOR!

DENVER, COLORADO,

Is not the "Largest," but the MOST ELEGANT CLOTHING HOUSE in Colorado.

And from the East and to the West,
Are gentlemen dressed
To suit from Anker's Hall,
And none, as yet, was heard to regret
That he ever gave him a call.

He honestly deals,
And nothing conceals,
Regarding the wear of his clothes,
But speaks with the truth,
To man and to youth,
Which each of his customers knows.

Hence, friends, one and all,
Go to Anker's Hall,
Walk boldly—don't cowardly creep,
For there you'll find,
All obliging and kind,
With Clothing tremendously cheap.

The citizens of Utah, Idaho and Montana are at all times cordially invited to call at ANCHOR'S POPULAR CLOTHING HOUSE, when in Denver, and examine his most Elegant and Tasteful Stock of Goods, which will be sold at Prices Guaranteed Lower than the Lowest.
